

Fountaine Pajot Bahia 46

The Bahia 46' was designed to sail with both comfort and ease. Fontaine Pajot succeeded in achieving the highest delivery of efficiency and style. Her high and smooth bridge deck, aerodynamically optimized hull and deck shape guarantee fast and safe ocean passages. Numerous water-tight bulk heads and a foam sandwich inner skin make her virtually unsinkable.

An easy to sail vessel, the Bahia 46' balances well under sail with an easy to handle genoa. A unique steering station allows excellent viewing for maneuver while under sail. The large cockpit design offers a well-protected dining area for relaxing BBQ lunches or cocktails under the stars. Her deck plan is clean and easy to move around without deck hardware in the way, allowing for all types of activities aside from sailing. The netted foredeck trampoline is spacious for sunbathing or breezy outdoor sleeping.

There are 4 double cabins, each with its own private head, sleeping 8 comfortably. There are also 2 additional private single v-berths and 2 single sleeping areas located in the passageways allowing extra sleeping areas for crew or children, increasing the maximum to 12. Each cabin is well ventilated with multiple hatches and fans. The single bow cabins have interior, or deck access, for added privacy.

Her spacious, well-ventilated galley supplies a large seating area with excellent visibility and dining in comfort. The galley is well-equipped and fully stocked with cookware necessary to prepare meals with ease.

The Bahia 46 comes with a variety of extra features, including a RIB tender with 9.9hp or 15hp outboard engine. VHF radio and CD stereo, GPS and autopilot, speed, depth and wind indicators, generator and air-conditioning are just a few of the goodies that making sailing a breeze.
